Are you looking for something really original while you're on your stag weekend ? What about flying a military jet ? Read what a professional military pilot wrote about jet you will fly:

The L-39 Albatros is, by all estimates, the most popular jet warbird on the US market. Its sleek looks, reasonable operating costs, and ease of operation explain much of the allure of this Czechoslovakian beauty, but there are other factors which make it such a desirable airplane.

Let's go flying and see what everyone's so excited about. The L-39 is a docile, fun, jet warbird. It requires very little additional support equipment or ground crew, can be operated from relatively short runways, is very mechanically reliable and robust, and can be operated for about the same overall per-hour cost as many "recip" warbirds. Flying one is as close to being a fighter pilot as many people will ever get -- and you don't have to sign up for ten years of military service. Is this a great time to be alive, or what?

What's it like to fly the L-39? It's delightful. the L-39 is capable of all the basic positive-G jet maneuvers: aileron rolls, barrel rolls, Cuban-8s, Immelmans, cloverleaves...
